

Codebook for Data Used in Hansen and Mautner, “Job Talk: Candidate Gender and Presentation of Prior Experience in Television Ads in the US,” Politics & Gender id – unique ID number for each advertisement. (Merge WMP 2018 data on this variable.)

state – two-letter postal abbreviation for state in which sponsoring candidate ran for legislature incumbent – 1 if the sponsoring candidate was an incumbent officeholder, 0 otherwise spanish – 1 if the advertisement was Spanish language, missing otherwise female – 1 if the sponsoring candidate was female, 0 otherwise self_occ_mention – 1 if the ad mentions the sponsoring candidate’s nonpolitical work experience, 0 otherwise self_politician – 1 if the ad mentions the sponsoring candidate’s experience in prior office, 0 otherwise opp_occ_mention – 1 if the ad mentions an opponent’s nonpolitical work experience, 0 otherwise opp_self_politician – 1 if the ad mentions the opponent’s experience in prior office, 0 otherwise prior – 1 if the sponsoring candidate had held elected office before, 0 otherwise contributions – dollar amount of candidate fundraising, gathered from Shah et al. (2022) raceethnicity – description of sponsoring candidate’s race or ethnicity

The codebook for variables from Wesleyan Media Project data (2018) is available here: <https://mediaproject.wesleyan.edu/dataaccess/>.

Reference

Shah, Paru R., Eric Gonzalez Juenke, and Bernard L. Fraga. 2022. “Here Comes Everybody: Using a Data Cooperative to Understand the New Dynamics of Representation.” PS: Political Science & Politics 55 (2): 300–302. doi: 10.1017/S1049096521001542.